RE: Ethics of the Commissioner's Office

Mr. Crawford,

Please accept this letter as an attempt to quell concerns amongst our members concerning a potential ethics concern.

It was brought to the attention of the Port Transportation Association that there is a rumour circulating that you had participated in a round of golf with the owner of one of the drayage companies. While the PTA has always found the Commissioner to uphold your position and your responsibilities to the highest ethical standards, we must ask you to either confirm or deny whether this was the case, and whether you have a relationship with any drayage company owners of a personal nature.

Again, the PTA strongly believes that the Commissioner and the Commissioner's office behaves in an ethical manor, however these rumours are creating concern amongst the community and we would like to stem the potential spread of misinformation, or provide clarification should these rumours be founded in the kernels of truth.

Sincerely,

Port Transportation Association
